Specific Data

particular incidents

My boyfriend's grandma died two weeks ago and I mailed his parents a letter instead of letting him myself. I sat down with a group and had fun in high school my friend brought me a note when she had to sing in front of people. I gave her advice and frequently complimented her

When my friend leaves my house tired, I will either insist on talking to them on the drive home or they come with me when they get there

My freshman year of HS I wanted to be a good dancer and needed flexibility so I stretched 4 times a day

I've spent many hours on the phone in the middle of the night with a friend who was having serious personal problems and mentally couldn't handle them

I hate being late for anything

I went on the high ropes course & barely got on the swing because my frequently helped guys in math class who struggled than he went to college & partially tested out & remembered the night my was sick so I had him spend the night. I tended to him

In chem, I could have just measured a rule about math w/ moles but I wanted to know why so asked about 4 people to explain until I actually understood

I keep a calendar organized w/ my events & consistently use my planner for homework
